STILL CONTINUE LAND AND SEA SEARCH FOR MISSING PILOTS

72 Local Draftees To Report Saturday

Seventy-two draftees from the Daly City Draft Board No. 103 will report for induction, Saturday morning, at the San Francisco induction center, 428 Market street, in the second of three draft calls set for this month.

The men will report at the local board headquarters, Friday afternoon, for a pre-induction meeting and final instructions before leaving civilian life to serve in Uncle Sam's army.

Another call is slated for August 31 at the Daly City board.

Mrs. Mary McMillan Dies Of Accident Injuries

Accidental death was the decision of a jury in the San Francisco coroner's office, Thursday, where the death of Mrs. Mary Gerstenberg McMillan, 6283-A Mission street, was probed.

Mrs. McMillan's death was a result of injuries sustained two weeks ago when she was struck by an automobile driven by John Daly, San Francisco. Mrs. McMillan was crossing the street when she was struck by Daly's car.

No charges were pressed against Daly. The coroner's jury announced that blame could not be placed upon the driver because of insufficient evidence in the case.

PETERSON RETAINS PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

Analysis of election returns throughout the nation in the last few weeks reveals an unusual situation in which the voters are evincing an intensive but silent interest in the political situations in which they are involved. Never has there been so little ballyhoo on behalf of candidates, never has there been so little apparent surface excitement. But down in his heart every voter today is taking seriously the things he has to do. No more fooling. No more voting on half facts. No more waiting to the last minute. No more voting for Jones or Smith because he's a good fellow and, after all, what does it matter? No more of that. The war has made us all deadly serious.

That's one of the reasons why the campaign this year for county executive isn't kicking up so much dust. Most voters in San Mateo county have their minds made up how to vote at the primary election on August 25. They're for Peterson.

COL. FREDERICK PETERSON

In the first place, we've had Peterson on the job as county executive for four years, and we have seen him in action, particularly where there was any possibility of effecting economies in government which would cut down the annual tax bill. We know his record on that and we know that economy is probably going to be the biggest thing in all our lives for the next few years to come. We know that, if Peterson does nothing else in office, he will save us every cent he can, and on that basis we would give him our vote.

He has done well along that line in the four years of his incumbency. He would have done better for the county at large and for the individual taxpayer if he hadn't had to spend half his energy fighting the majority of a board of supervisors who made Peterson their Public Enemy No. 1 and who opposed everything he advocated. Given a full board of supervisors willing to co-operate with him in an all-out move for economy, we might go a long way toward keeping our individual budgets balanced while we pay for the war.

Peterson's chief opposition has always been the political clique of which some supervisors have been spokesmen. The people have always been for Peterson because they recognize in him honesty, loyalty to them, and a rugged determination to do the right thing. They voted for him twice in 1938, once when he, almost single-handed, advocated changing the county executive office from appointive to elective, and again when he beat the politicians in their plan to elect their own representative. So angry were they with this seizure of their administrative power that they organized a countywide campaign against Peterson and hurled on the 1939 ballot a charter amendment to abolish Peterson's job. Of course, they lost, but in 1940 they tried again in vain, this time with an amendment to return the office to their own control by making it appointive.

It is significant that one of Peterson's chief opponents in the present campaign was a member of the board of supervisors who fought Peterson so consistently and who tried desperately to persuade the voters three years ago to abolish the county executive job entirely, because he said it was unnecessary. Now he wants it himself.

That's another thing about Peterson. There's no chicanery about him. There's no blowing hot and cold whichever way the political wind goes. He's on the same road and pointing the same way as he was when he made his campaign in 1938. He said then it would be cheaper for the county to run its government the way he suggested and the people believed him. That's his whole campaign today. He just goes plugging along for more and more economy, more and more intelligence in the administration of county affairs, more and more attention to the job of government. He hasn't changed. We don't believe the people have, either.

GONE! For The Duration

Daly City's "gay white way," pictured above in a composite shot, will no longer beam with bright lights after tonight when Lieutenant General John L. DeWitt's army proclamation for a semi-blackout on the Pacific coast goes into effect.

There will be no bright lights in Daly City but there will still be gaiety. All that goes out for the duration are the lights. Neon lights, floodlights, and display lighting will be doused for the duration.

Daly City Firemen Pledge Donation To S. M. Blood Bank

Disaster Relief Committee Ready For Emergency

If bombs should strike Daly City and the Red Cross Disaster Relief committee were obliged to care for disaster victims, there is a combined total of over 10,000 feet of floor space in two of the city's disaster stations and four hundred people could be fed every hour.

This was learned Friday after R. L. Crane, disaster shelter procurement chairman, completed a survey of Woodrow Wilson school and Pershing school, which were named as local Red Cross disaster relief centers. The survey followed a request by Mrs. E. Toelle, secretary of the San Mateo County Disaster Relief committee for information on the two Daly City disaster centers.

Facilities at both places are excellent, it was pointed out, but the drawback in preparedness for a possible disaster is the fact

City Council Sets New D. C. Tax Rate

In an adjourned meeting of the city council, Monday night, a tax rate of $1.09 per $100 assessed property valuation was set for Daly City through the adoption of a resolution.

In a breakdown of the general tax rate the following items indicated the rate: general government, $.8075; library maintenance, $.07; unbudgeted reserve, $.05; making a total of $.9275.

In addition, the segregation of the special bond rate follows: 1924 water works bonds and interest, $.054; 1937 fire alarm bonds and interest, $.0055; 1938 city hall bonds and interest, $.043; 1941 fire department improvement bonds and interest, $.06. The special bond rate totaled $.1625, making the combined total of $1.09.

Although Daly City firemen who pledged donations of a pint of blood each to the San Mateo County Blood Bank have already begun to respond by having their blood typed and extracted, only two donations have been made since the last appointments through the local chairman, Mrs. Catherine Foreman.

However, the blood bank has found considerable material aid from Daly City with a $43 check being donated by the local Civilian Defense Council for its operation. The check followed two others from the defense council, all three of which were proceeds from the tin salvage campaign.

Miss Juanita Young and J. Levy are the two donors to the blood bank through Mrs. Foreman's headquarters. A third, Miss Irene Twisten, has made an appointment to donate on Saturday.

In charge of registering members of the Daly City Fire department, A. L. Sundstrom sr. reported nine members of Company No. 4 have been typed and have donated their blood to the bank. Following are the firemen: A. L. Sundstrom sr., Basil Foppiano, Albert Perada, Fred Mather, C. Reinhart sr., C. Reinhart jr., James Welsh, Albert Rivera, and A. L. Sundstrom jr.

In addition to these, a group of firemen from Company No. 1 went down yesterday, but Sundstrom had not yet secured their names. Sundstrom is forming a file of all firemen and their type of blood for use here in case of an emergency where blood transfusions are necessary.

Mrs. Foreman announced this week that preliminary plans are being discussed for the possible establishment of a blood typing laboratory in Daly City to aid the blood bank. The bank officials are now in search of a laboratory technician with experience in blood typing to take over this center, Mrs. Foreman said.

With the urgent need of blood for plasma in the county blood bank, Mrs. Foreman appealed to all persons who can, to donate their pint of blood. Appointment will be made if you call Mrs. Foreman at Randolph 10376.

Power Lines Shorted—Gas Soaked Gondola Did Not Catch Fire

Military and naval investigators this week continued the search for the two missing pilots of the navy patrol blimp which crashed in the 400 block on Bellevue avenue, Sunday morning, at 11:20 a. m.

Fire was miraculously avoided after the swinging cable on the gondola of the huge ship knocked power lines loose and sent flashes along the sides which were sprayed with gasoline in a supposed attempt by the two missing fliers to jettison their fuel.

Power lines were cut off in a large section of the city by the Pacific Gas and Electric company and trouble shooters were on the job cutting and clearing away loose high tension wires in a short time.

Thousands of Daly City residents watched the huge blimp, with top caved in, come in from the sea, skim over the rooftops of some homes west of Mission street, then actually scrape the rooftops of other homes in the Crocker district before it landed on Bellevue avenue.

Civilian defense forces of Daly City went into action within a few minutes after the blimp landed, and auxiliary police officers, under the supervision of Sergeant William Bolger of the Daly City Police department, quickly drew police lines to hold the throng of curious spectators off. Air raid wardens and auxiliary firemen of Daly City also aided in controlling the crowd.

Companies 1, 2, 4, and 6 reported to the scene and stood by with a large unit of firefighting apparatus.

San Francisco police arrived on the scene later, and helped the Daly City civilian defense volunteers in maintaining police lines after they were set up.

The blimp nearly landed just west of Mission street, according to many persons who watched its descent from the shore line or further out at sea. However, a sudden gust of wind carried the ship over Conci's service station on Mission street. The blimp then began to angle toward the northeast before it finally crashed on Bellevue avenue.

Read All About Navy Blimp Crash!

"Right here, Mister, right on this spot is where she landed. Here'y're, Mister, read all about it. Buy a paper and read all about the navy blimp crash!"

Still a busy scene Monday morning, twenty-four hours after the navy blimp crashed was the 400 block on Bellevue avenue. Our youthful newshawks in Daly City, selling metropolitan newspapers carrying the story, abandoned their street corners and took to the Bellevue block where business was rushing. Yes, even twenty-four hours later people drove by, knowing all signs of the mystery blimp had been cleared away, but they just wanted to see where it happened.

An innovation undoubtedly in increasing circulation of newspapers was this free service of showing where the blimp crashed with every paper bought. Leave it to those local newspaper boys who sell San Francisco's papers; they have an eye for promotion!

The Aristocratic Prune

By Frances Lee Barton

THERE was a time when "humble prune" was very often heard.

At boarding houses, "Have a dish!"

The waitress coyly purred.

But prunes and spices, eggs

and milk

Combined into a cake

Produce as sumptuous a dish As anyone can bake.

Prune Cake

2½ cups sifted cake flour; ¾ teaspoon double-acting baking powder; 1 teaspoon soda; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cloves; 1 teaspoon allspice; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ cup butter or other shortening; 1½ cups sugar; 2 eggs, well beaten; 1 cup cooked prunes, seeded and coarsely cut; 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and prune pulp. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Spread whipped cream between layers and on top of cake.

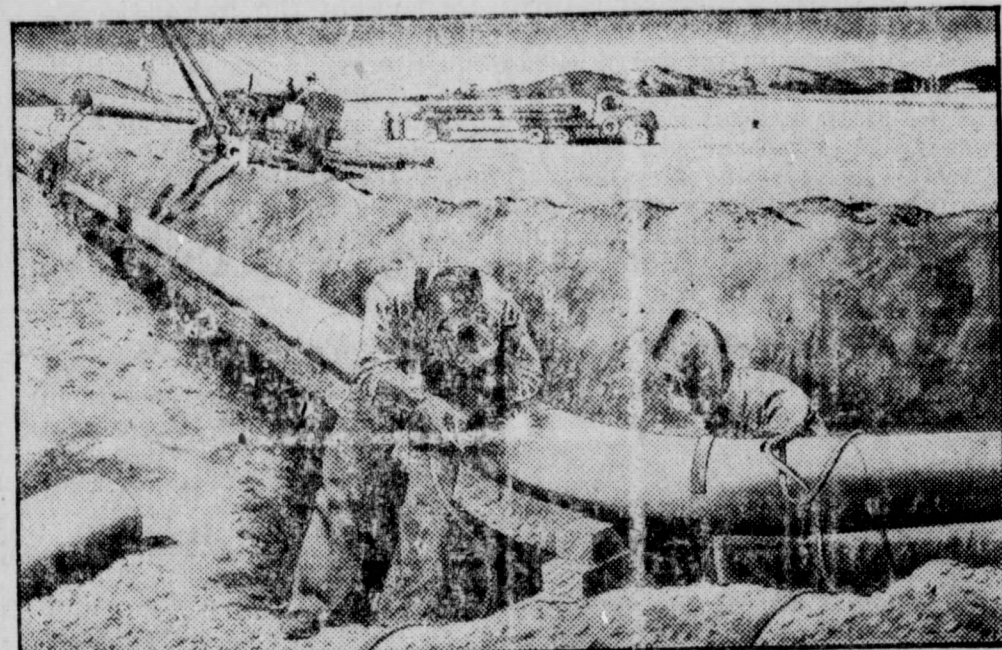

What California appears to need most is less gas about gasoline rationing.

HEAVENLY PINK and black are combined to make this chic late summer ensemble. CBS actress Marjorie Bell of "Armstrong's Theater of Today" series, finds this Walter Florell pink felt sombrero so suitable for dressy occasions and also for sports togs when worn without the veiling.

THEY FEED THE FURNACES of WAR

Natural Gas Workers Fight, too, for Victory

WHEN PEARL HARBOR plunged the United States into war, this utility company was prepared. No mobilization orders were necessary.

Our men, already working at full capacity, were ready. And among these non-military forces, trained by years of experience, one mighty important division is composed of the Gas Workers. They are men from many skilled crafts—engineers, chemists, gas technicians, compressor operators, pipe fitters and layers, trench machine drivers.

Their job is a big one. They must maintain a system of thousands of miles of transmission and distribution pipe lines, through which natural gas from the oil and gas fields of Central and Northern California is carried. They must deliver a constant flow of gas to the war plants in this extensive territory—to the steel furnaces, the shipyards, the cement plants, the shops and factories where production requires efficient heat.

Millions of cubic feet also must be supplied for the making of metallic magnesium. At the same time, the Gas Workers must maintain service to the cooking ranges and the heaters of 600,000 homes and supply the other fuel needs of some 3,000,000 people.

They are doing all this, laboring day and night, worthily carrying their share of the fight for Victory.

High School Burglar Sentenced To Prison

Arrested by Daly City police officers while attempting to burglarize Jefferson Union high school last month, Joseph E. Gonsalves, Oakland, was sentenced to serve from one to fifteen years at San Quentin penitentiary, Friday, in Judge Maxwell McNutt's superior court.

Gonsalves pled guilty to charges of second degree burglary and a plea entered two weeks ago for probation was denied Friday after a two week investigation into his record. The San Quentin sentence marks the third prison sentence for Gonsalves on burglary charges.

"My Favorite Spy" Now At Daly City

What happens when a kissless bridegroom has to run around nights with a blonde and can't tell his bride why, is played to the hilt in Kay Kyser's newest vehicle, "My Favorite Spy," currently playing at the Daly City theatre.

As in his former films, Kyser again plays himself — but this time he is seen as an unwilling member of Uncle Sam's secret service forces assigned to work with other under-cover agents in capturing an enemy espionage group while ostensibly carrying on with his band at a swank night-club.

The assignment comes just as Kyser is getting married, and this further complicates matters, for he is strictly forbidden to tell his bride of his official duties. So when wifey discovers her newly-wedded hubby in circulation with a blonde charmer, the marriage goes on the rocks. The conclusion, with Kyser proving himself a hero with his ingenious one-man round-up of the spy forces, straightens things out in side-splitting fashion.

Harold Lloyd produced "My Favorite Spy" with all the breathless technique of his own famous comedy hits of the past. Ellen Drew as the bride and Jane Wyman as the blonde have the feminine leads, and Helen Westley, Robert Armstrong, Una O'Connor and the Kyser band with that neither is equipped with Red Cross supplies.

"General Pershing has a cafeteria," the report stated, "and Woodrow Wilson has cooking facilities capable of serving 200 per hour, but has no dishes or large scale cooking equipment. The cooking at Woodrow Wilson consists of a domestic science cooking laboratory.

"We have no Red Cross supplies of any kind nor any food stored in the shelters."

Pershing school has 4800 square feet of floor space, while Woodrow has 6000 square feet. Shelter capacity for sleeping is 200 at Pershing, and 250 at Woodrow. Each shelter is capable of feeding 200 persons per hour.

Crane did not name persons responsible for feeding and caring for disaster victims since he has not made appointments, although a Red Cross committee to be located at each station was named last month.

Red Cross Workroom To Be Closed For Week

Mrs. Horace Fellows, town chairman of the Daly City Unit, American Red Cross, today announced that the local workroom will be closed this week. The ladies are taking a well earned rest.

The group will resume their work again on Wednesday morning, August 26. The workroom is also opened on Fridays.

A large number of knitted articles and seventy-five hospital gowns were turned into the county headquarters, Monday, according to Mrs. Fellows.

There are many ways to Serve More Milk to Your Child

says Dorothy Greig

There's one thing doctors and food experts advocate it is the wisdom of at least one quart of milk a day for every child. Sometimes, it must seem to harassed mothers that children are equally united in rejecting the dictum.

The trouble comes when we expect a child to drink a full quart. After all, a quart of milk takes up a lot of room and no wonder little Susie sometimes balks.

To be sure many children can and should drink more milk than they do. They can be coaxed into doing so by putting a little chocolate syrup in the milk, or a dash of nutmeg on top, or by mixing in a spoonful of molasses or honey. It's the old story of variety and it works with children as with grown-ups.

But there are other ways also to get more milk into a child's diet. Cream soups use generous quantities. Make pea, asparagus, celery or tomato into rich cream soups by simply adding milk. Milk may also be added to vegetable and chicken soup instead of the more usual water.

Children enjoy custards and milk puddings, too. They like cream sauces on vegetables, ice cream, cottage cheese spread on biscuits, lots of cream on cereals and over cooked fruits. The milk in these dishes all adds to the day's milk total. In cooking, many women prefer to use evaporated milk because it gives all the good milk solids without the bulk of fresh milk. Also, it is less expensive.

Here is a custard that may be used as the main dish for lunch or supper:

Baked Vegetable Purée Custard with parsley bacon sauce

1 can condensed pea soup
3/4 cup irradiated evaporated milk
1/4 cup water
2 eggs

Combine the pea soup, milk and water and mix well. Then add the eggs, slightly beaten. Pour into buttered individual custard cups, place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) for 50-60 minutes or until firm.

Baking test for custard: Insert a silver knife in the center of the custard and if the knife comes out clean the custard is cooked. Remove from oven and let stand in the hot water for 10 minutes before removing for the cups. Serves 6

Parsley-Bacon Sauce

4 teaspoons butter
4 teaspoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
1/2 cup irradiated evaporated milk
1/2 cup water

1 tablespoon crisp chopped bacon
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
Melt the butter in a saucepan, add flour and seasoning and cook until frothy. Then add milk and water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add chopped crisp bacon and parsley and heat well. Serve sauce over the custard.

And children will like these cream soups which can be made with either evaporated or fresh milk. If you use fresh milk add 1 1/4 cups for each can condensed soup.

Cream of Vegetable Soup

1 can condensed vegetable soup
1/2 cup irradiated evaporated milk (just as it comes from the can)
1/4 cup water

Add the milk and water to the soup, heat but do not boil. Serves 2-3.

Cream of Tomato Soup

1 can condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup irradiated evaporated milk (just as it comes from the can)
1/4 cup water

Measure the water and the milk and mix. Combine milk and soup, then heat but do not boil. Serves 2-3.

Cream of Pea Soup

1 can condensed pea soup
1/2 cup irradiated evaporated milk (just as it comes from the can)
1/4 cup water

Empty the soup into a saucepan, add the milk and water and heat, but do not boil. Serves 2-3.

"LET THEM FINISH THE JOB"

Next Tuesday we Americans will have a privilege that is now denied a large percentage of the world's people—the opportunity to go to the polls and cast an unhampered ballot. With the world at war—this country, following the leadership of its great president, is putting forth a gigantic effort to win a victory that will assure a continuation of the universal ballot and other freedoms.

This war is being fought on many fronts, and the home front is among the most important battle lines—that is why The Record believes it the wise and best thing to disturb as little as possible the present war effort and governmental functions in the August 25 elections—in other words, the men who are in office doing a good job, leave them there.

May we recommend, "Let them finish the job!"

Reading & Writing

By Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

We read a lot about the Russian army and its leaders these days. But what about the Russian people themselves? How are they like Americans and how are they different? "Shooting the Russian War," by Margaret Bourke-White talks about people and not about politics. Miss Bourke-White and her husband, Erskine Caldwell, went to Moscow in the spring of 1941 and stayed until the Russians had begun their great counter-offensive. Caldwell gave his account of their experiences in his book, "All Out on the Road to Smolensk," published several months ago. Now we have the story from a woman's viewpoint in his wife's book.

Margaret Bourke-White is one of our ace photographers, and "Shooting the Russian War," in addition to its entertaining text, contains some of the best photographs that have come out of this war—air raids, front line villages recaptured by the Red Army, workers, farmers and soldiers on duty, and even churches and the people who worship there.

Miss Bourke-White is justly proud of her Stalin photographs, since it is very difficult for an American to get an audience with the Soviet leader. She says that Stalin looked very stern—as though his face was carved out of granite—until she started crawling around on the floor so she could set her camera at the proper angle. This struck him as funny and he burst out laughing.

The week before the Nazi invasion, the Caldwells were visiting in Georgia, in the South of Russia. The Georgians were delighted to learn that Erskine also had come from Georgia—the United States variety. Their excursion was conducted by the local Writers' Union, including the leading poets of Georgia, who turned their talents toward rhyming every comparative feature between that "Paradise" of America and the "Garden Spot" of the Soviet Union. "Both Georgias grew cotton. Both were famous for corn and oranges. Both had golden sunshine. Both produced beautiful women. But, best of all, both Georgias were noted as the birthplaces of the greatest writers in the land," they said. At this point Miss Bourke-White whispered to her husband that his play "Tobacco Road" had never seen anything like this. He whispered back that they were just a lot of Georgia crackers here, same as back home.

Captain Sergei N. Kournakoff, author of "Russia's Fighting Forces," was an officer in the Russian Imperial Army in the first World War. Now he is living in the United States, writing and lecturing on the war today. In a recent lecture, he got on the subject of the ban against cuffs on trousers. "When I look at my cuffless trousers," he said, "I want to tell the President to take the whole pair. It is better that we fight in overalls than grovel in a two-pants suit."

The Nazis try to minimize the German losses, but they can't fool all their people all the time. Harry Flannery, who was successor to William Shirer as a CBS broadcaster in Berlin, and whose book, "Assignment to Berlin," is an excellent sequel to Shirer's Book-of-the-Month Club selection, "Berlin Diary," tells this story which he heard from the Germans themselves. It seems that four German aviators came before St. Peter and asked to be admitted through the pearly gates.

"And who are you?" asked Peter.
"We are four German aviators who were shot down over the Channel today."
"Four?" Peter looked at his list. "Sorry," he said, "three of you will have to go below. The communique says that only one was shot down today."

Save Your Frypan Grease To Help Win The War

So that manufacture of America's munitions can continue uninterrupted, appeal by the Salvage for Victory committee was renewed this week to all housewives to donate frypan grease and waste fats.

Daly City grocery stores are the collection agencies for this material, which is in great demand for use as a lubricating agent in making munitions and high explosives. R. L. Crane jr., salvage chairman, asked all local housewives to give their frypan grease and waste fats when they make the next trip to the grocery store.

Any profit realized by the butcher in selling the material to manufacturers is turned over to the USO as part of the fund that

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hurlbut, 173 San Diego avenue, recently returned from a two weeks' vacation at the home of Mrs. Josie Kables, Seaside, Oregon. Mrs. Kables is the mother of Mrs. Hurlbut. While there the Hurlbuts also visited Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Newell, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Hurlbut.

It takes to keep USO stations open for the service men in all army camps, at home and abroad, and in all other posts where American service men are located.

Two instructions for donating waste fats and greases are given to housewives by the salvage committee:

1. Pour the grease into a tin or metal container, NOT a glass container.
2. Keep the raw fats separate from the cooked fats and grease.

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY

Are You Letting "George" Do It?

(EDITORIAL)

Sure, it's been nearly two months since Daly City had a blackout! And no bombs have fallen!

Well, that's certainly a break for all of us, but that doesn't mean now's the time to relax and conveniently forget all about civilian defense work. The need for trained volunteers to help protect this community in the event of enemy raids is just as great now—maybe greater—than it was immediately following Pearl Harbor.

Many have volunteered; many are conscientiously completing their basic training, preparing for eventualities. But there are still too many of us "letting George do it." We mean well but we just don't get around to taking the necessary steps. We procrastinate. (That suits the Japs!)

Let's join "George" in giving Daly City a full-staffed civilian defense corps; let's know how to protect lives and property in our town. Daly City's need for volunteers is by no means ended.

If you haven't signed up for civilian defense duty, do so now at headquarters at the city hall, 75 Wellington avenue. (And getting home after 5 is no excuse—headquarters are open 24 hours a day). If you already have signed up, go complete that basic training, turn out for important group meetings, get set for action.

Mobile Drill For C. D. Council

Daly City's Civilian Defense Council is this week preparing for a mobile drill of all civilian defense apparatus in the Crocker tract and west end of Daly City to be held at 7 p. m. on Thursday, August 27.

Incidents are being planned under a veil of secrecy and no announcement will be made beforehand what type of incident is to be expected, Arthur J. Bodien, civilian defense director, announced. All types of apparatus will roll in the drill.

Later on there will be demonstrations for other sections of the city until all have been covered, Bodien added. New plans for demonstrations in the future call for more incidents affecting more sectors in the city. Previous drills found many civilian defense volunteers remaining idle because of no incidents in their particular sector.

"Pack a Lunch That Packs a Punch"

The wartime job of keeping house may seem commonplace and unimportant to the mother who has to stay at home, but more and more scientists and government authorities are beginning to realize that the health of the nation lies largely in the hands of the housewife.

For example, it has been proven conclusively by tests that when a worker gets well-balanced meals in his lunchbox, he just naturally does more and better quality work, feels better and loses less time from sickness than he does when his lunches are poorly planned. And when children eat nutritious lunches, they concentrate better and get better grades.

Of course, packing lunches presents many problems. Unless mother packs what Johnny likes, Johnny will refuse to eat it and it doesn't matter how nutritious it was. Also both father and the school children complain when they get the same thing day after day. The growing scarcity of some foods is another headache.

So mother's job isn't so easy. She is expected to make the lunches conform to the rules of good nutrition, and yet make the food so attractive and so varied that the family will be both happy and healthy. All of this is, of course, doubly important during wartime, since father is probably working on some important phase of war production.

With so many things to keep in mind, mother may want to check over the following timely tips on lunchbox meals, taken from a new government-approved folder entitled "Pack A Lunch That Packs A Punch":

1. Plan lunches at the same time you plan other meals and avoid buying special, expensive foods just for the lunchbox. 2. Reserve one corner of the cupboard for lunchbox equipment. 3. Avoid lunches with too many starchy foods that fill up but don't stay with you. 4. Try to include every day a vacuum bottle drink or food, two different sandwiches, and two of the following three items... a raw vegetable or salad, a fruit, a dessert.

The lunchbox booklet, prepared by General Electric Company's Home Service Institute and approved by U.S. Government National Nutrition Program nutritionists, is available to readers of this paper without charge. It contains a great many suggestions in addition to those above, including a handy simplified food chart for planning balanced lunchbox meals without counting calories and vitamins. The chart counts them for you.

TONIGHT ALL LIGHTS ARE TO BE DIMMED

Tonight is the last chance to put out all lights deemed unnecessary by the army and keep them out for the duration, Arthur J. Bodien, civilian defense director, warned Daly City residents, merchants and other responsible persons in this community.

"There are still many lights in Daly City, especially in the residential districts," Bodien said, "that are burning every night, and after tonight householders will have to answer to the army if they don't shield the lights properly."

Deadline for extinguishing all unnecessary lighting in the Pacific coast area is tonight, according to the public proclamation by Lieutenant General John L. De Witt, commander of the Western Defense Area.

All residents are under the strict penalty of exclusion from the Western Defense Command area for violating the regulations.

"We don't want to see anyone have to leave here, but that is exactly what will happen if those lights aren't out tonight," Bodien said.

Lighting which must be absolutely extinguished tonight is commercial floodlighting, signs and display lighting, ground areas and industrial illumination, traffic signs and signals, and navigation lights and signals. Other lighting which must be shielded in areas visible from the sea, which includes Daly City, are street lights, lights from windows and doorways of residences, and automobiles. Lighting for the latter is reduced to 250 beam candlepower. Motorists were advised to drive at reduced speeds with parking lights in the Zone of Restricted Lighting.

Comment on results so far, in Daly City, of compliance with General De Witt's order was "very good, with the exception of lighting from homes," Bodien said there was still a large number of homes in this community which have lighting that is visible out at sea. He added that there has been a co-operative response from merchants in Daly City in putting out display lighting.

Most of the large neon signs over entrances of restaurants and bars in Daly City have been extinguished. There are still neon window signs burning, but they must all be out tonight, Bodien added.

Touring Daly City and warning residents of lighting violations for the past two weeks have been air raid wardens, under the leadership of Harry Mellicker, chief air raid warden. Also, a lighting consultant, Anthony Pacheco, South San Francisco, was assigned to this area to advise on lighting matters. He was appointed by the Regional Office of Civilian Defense. Posters with the rules of General DeWitt's proclamation have been posted on bulletin boards, telephone poles, and other public places.

At Jefferson Union high school, where an extensive lighting system in the athletic plant falls under the rule of outdoor areas and ground illumination, provisions were made for compliance to the proclamation. Evening hours for the gymnasium and swimming pool were set up to enable the plant to be closed when night falls. Windows at the school are equipped with blackout curtains.

R. L. Crane jr., superintendent of the Jefferson school district, is on vacation this week preceding the opening of the school term.

Mr and Mrs. William Waldon, Daly City, are being congratulated upon the birth of a son, August 5, in San Francisco.

DEMOCRATS URGE SUPPORT OF EARL WARREN

'Olson Must Go,' Says Democratic Leader; Democrats Head Warren Committees

Signalling the mounting volume of rank and file Democrats switching away from Olson leadership, Democratic Assemblyman Jack B. Tenney, well known Musicians Union leader in Los Angeles and legislative investigator of subversive activities, strongly opposes Governor Olson's reelection.

Tenney was one of the governor's staunchest supporters at the beginning of the Olson administration. This is what he now has to say:

"There can be no real Democracy within the Democratic party in California so long as its control rests with the present leadership. There is no room for independent thinking or wholesome opposition to the MACHINE.

"Olson has mistaken leadership for ownership. A change is absolutely necessary. Olson must go!"

Tenney's position is endorsed it appears by thousands of Democrats in California. Significantly, Democratic leaders head more than half the County Committees active in the Warren campaign for Governor.

"Democrats," declares Jos. J. Rosborough, former Oakland Postmaster and Democratic leader, "should ponder well the words of Assemblyman Tenney, an outstanding leader in our own party."

"In this time of great national emergency, President Roosevelt has asked that petty partisanship be adjourned for greater responsibilities. California needs an administration pledged to that principle. Earl Warren, whose integrity has never been questioned, pledges such an administration. And Warren has never been known to break his word."

Colma Eagles Plan Anniversary Party

The first of two important events this week for Colma Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the Eagles hall.

In celebration of the 44th anniversary of the Eagles organization, an initiation of a large class will take place tonight. The class will be known as the 44th Anniversary class, and, although President Mel Battye could not say how many members would be taken in, a large class is expected. With the initiation of this class, the aerie hopes to reach the halfway mark in its yearly quota.

Following the meeting a spaghetti dinner will be served to brother Eagles by Ric Ballentini.

The second important event on the Eagles' weekly social program is the ladies night, the first of 1942, and all Eagles and their guests are invited to the gala occasion to be held at the Eagles hall Saturday evening. The festivities will begin at 8 p. m. Dancing and refreshments will be enjoyed by Eagles and their ladies. A committee composed of John Craig and Glenn Wilkes have arranged for the affair.

They look similar—and they should because they're sisters. They answer to the same name—and they should because they're married to two brothers.

Genevieve has been employed by The Record for the past two years, but this week she is leaving the staff (we'll tell you why shortly with a little pink, or maybe blue card). Eleanor is going to take her sister's place on the newspaper staff.

Both the girls' husbands are in the armed service helping Uncle Sam win the war.

JUNK needed for War

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?

First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

The entire meal tastes better if it contains at least

ONE HOT DISH

says Dorothy Greig

ONE of the things that lend zip and zest to summer meals is contrast. We plan for contrast in texture — for instance, a crunchy food and a smooth one. Contrast of color makes a meal look more appetizing, too—the green of beans, the yellow of corn, the red of strawberries. And most important of all is contrast of temperature. Cold food for summer meals if you like but get contrast by serving some hot food also in every meal.

Chopped Steak and Spanish Rice Casserole a zestful dish to sparkle up a summer meal.

Indeed, serving at least one hot dish does much more than just give balance and zest. It actually aids digestion, helps to keep us feeling fit through the draggy days. And it is wise to serve this hot food as early in the meal as possible.

For example, if the main dish is cold meat or a big husky salad, let's start with a light hot soup. That puts the tummy in good humor to digest the cold foods that follow.

On the other hand, if the first course is jellied consommé, chilled tomato juice or fruit cup, follow along with a hot main dish or maybe a hot vegetable casserole.

Here is the recipe for a light soup that makes a fine beginning to a summer meal:

Chicken Noodle and Celery Soup

1 can condensed chicken noodle soup
1 can condensed celery soup
2 cans milk (using the soup can for a measure)

Combine the chicken noodle and celery soups. Then add 2 cans milk.

using the soup can for a measure. Heat, but do not boil. Serves 5-7.

And for a hot main dish you will enjoy this, not only for its fine flavor but because it looks so savory, thanks to its contrast of sizzling brown meat cakes on white rice that has been mixed with green peppers and red condensed tomato soup.

Chopped Steak and Spanish Rice Casserole

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
2 tablespoons onion, chopped
1 can condensed tomato soup
3 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 pinch pepper

Melt the butter, add chopped green pepper and chopped onion and cook until soft. Then add the tomato soup, well-drained cooked rice, and pepper. Stir carefully until well mixed. Put into a casserole and arrange raw chopped steaks on the top.

Chopped Steaks: Mix together one pound ground round steak, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Shape into flat patties and put on the Spanish Rice. Put casserole under the broiler and broil the steaks first on one side and then the other. Serves 5-6.

To encourage consumers to eat more cheese the Department of Agriculture has designated cheese as a Victory Food Special for the two-week period, August 17-29.

SAFEGWAY Homemakers' Guide

★ Interesting facts about the world's most versatile food ★ A list of real money-saving foods ★ A four-part story about a great discovery

Things you may not know and should ... about tomatoes

An article prepared by the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau

Tomatoes are without question the most versatile of all foods. They have a place at every meal—tomato juice, soup, salad, sandwiches, sauces, relishes—and they are equally good cooked or uncooked.

Tomato connoisseurs say the best way to enjoy them is to first scald them, then chill, peel, slice, and salt them. But there many other ways, too.

Tomatoes are wonderful for adding sparkle to other foods—meats, macaroni and spaghetti dishes, and vegetable casseroles. You'll find that round steak, pork or veal chops and steaks, shoulder lamb chops, and similar cuts of meat are more tender and flavorful when braised in tomato juice or tomato soup instead of water.

Another thing—tomatoes are rich in Vitamins A and C. Vitamin C is protected by the natural tomato acid, so that you can scald, cook, and can tomatoes without sacrificing much of the vitamin.

This is the season when tomatoes are ripe and juicy in most parts of the country, and it's a good time to put up tomato juice. The juice is almost as versatile as tomatoes themselves. Serve it hot or cold, as is or highly seasoned, or combined with other liquids. For peppy flavor, add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

TOMATO JUICE

10 lbs. tomatoes 2 tps. salt

Wash and core but do not peel tomatoes. Cut in eights. Place in large 8-qt. kettle; add 2 cups water; cover; boil 10 minutes. Put through sieve to remove seeds. Add salt and heat to boiling. Pour into hot sterilized jars or bottles; seal, and pasteurize (directions follow). Makes about 7 pts.

Bottling and Pasteurization

Do not use lids with zinc tops. Wash jars thoroughly; sterilize by placing in boiling water for 10 minutes. Heat juice to 175° F. to 180° F. Pour into hot jars, filling just to 1½ inches from the top to allow room for expansion. Seal at once, according to type of lid. Place hot jars in water which has been heated to 160° F. to 185° F. Stand jars upright on rack; have completely covered with water. Heat water to 175° F. to 185° F. and hold temperature 30 minutes. Do not heat higher than 185° F. Remove immediately from hot water. Test seals for tightness. Let cool undisturbed in place free from draft. When cold, wipe off and store.

On this page are represented many of the candidates whose names will appear on the ballot next Tuesday.

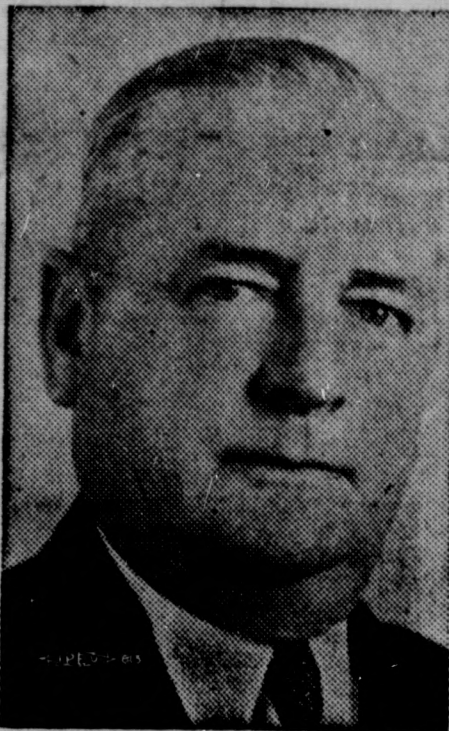

They ask you to study their qualifications and to go to the polls and vote Tuesday.

EXCUSE IT PLEASE

The editors ask candidates and their campaign committees to please excuse the fact that in this issue there are no political stories nor publicity—we're more sorry than you, for Penny Boynton, who has been handling all the political news, is in the hospital for an appendectomy.

Rather than to rush and bungle stories, the editorial staff decided to take a little more time and give all candidates a good story in the "Vote Tomorrow" edition which will be distributed full coverage, Monday.

Must Find Homes For Fed. Workers

Homes must be found immediately for more than 200 federal employees who will be sent to San Francisco within the next month, announced Fred E. Palmer, manager of the Decentralization Service.

All owners of flats, apartments, and private homes in the area, including the landlords of Daly City, are urged to list any vacancies that they have at present, or anticipate in the near future, with the Federal Decentralization Service at 582 Market street.

If San Francisco finds homes for the 200 employees, members of the Social Security Board, it will be asked to provide space for other government agencies which are being moved from Washington, Palmer said.

Mrs. Mary Torres, 60 Goethe street, recently returned home from St. Mary's hospital where she underwent an operation. Friends are welcome to visit.

Miss Eloise Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Harrison, 122 Woodrow street, is visiting Chicago with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Sweeney. Miss Harrison plans to be gone a month.

First Things Come First War Calls Must Go Through

A cherished tradition among telephone men and women is that "the message must go through."

War messages for the sake and safety of all of us must go through first.

The demands of War are placing a load on our Long Distance lines often beyond their capacity.

It is impossible to build more switchboards and lines because materials such as copper must be used in making munitions and weapons.

You who use the telephone in these critical times can aid in getting War messages through promptly and in cutting down possible delays on your own essential calls if you will—

Be brief—Plan what you want to say.

Make calls only that you find essential.

Place your calls by number and use station-to-station service.

Answer your telephone promptly.

Your cooperation in these simple matters will make possible the maximum use of existing voice highways. Thank you for your help.
